The Bank is insisting on a reduction of our Municipal and School Loans.

With the Curlers.

The officers of the Curling Club have succeeded in making satisfactory arrangements with the Town Council for the rental of the rink; and the club fees for this season have been set as follows—Town membership $10.00; Spruce Grove membership $7; country membership $7. Ladies' fees will remain at $2.50.

The weather has been ideal for making ice, and Mr Wm Goebel, the new caretaker, started on Friday last to prepare the rink for curling.

While the rink may be ready for curling the latter part of this week. The annual draw between the President and Vice President will commence Monday next, Nov. 23rd, providing weather conditions are favorable.

New members at the Grove will please arrange with Mr W J Chinnolly re personnel of their rinks.

New members from Stony Plain and district should get in touch with Secretary Lewis at once.

The Hockey Meeting.

The hockey players of the town, their friends and admirers got together last week and reorganised for the season. The first order of business was election of officers, when the following were nominated and elected to act for the season:

Pres. Jack McGillis
Vice Pres. C Lory
Sec. Elmer Anderson.

A lengthy and rather acrimonious debate took place when it came to discussing the standing of the senior and junior clubs. Eventually, it was decided to have one club but two teams—team No. 1 and team No. 2. Mr C Lory was appointed coach for the latter team; and Mr R E Wood will be coach for team No. 1.

The hockey players will begin their practice at Brant's Lake, while awaiting the opening of their rink at the Fair Grounds.

Passenger Train Schedule.

The times on the new train schedule have been set. The west bound Continental Limited (train No. 1) leaves Stony Plain at 11.44. The east bound Continental Limited (train No. 2) arrives in Stony at 15.44. The new schedule comes into force on Sunday next, the 22d. The trains as stated will be the only passenger trains operating daily on this division, as the early morning and midnight trains have been cancelled.

Bazaar and Turkey Supper.

The Ladies' Aid of the United Church are holding their annual bazaar in the Town hall the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 28, opening at 2.30.

A turkey supper will also be served from 5.30 to 7.30. Price 35c.

A Tick At A Time.

Somewhere has told a fanciful story of a salesman who was engaged in an attempt to sell a grandfather clock, telling the prospective purchaser that it would run for one hundred years and be just as good at the end of the period as at the beginning. The clock overbearing this remark began figuring out how many times it would have to tick in that 100 years, and emitted a deep groan, and began to complain "I can't stand it; I can't stand it," whereupon a little cheap alarm clock on an adjoining shelf spoke up: "Cheer up; you don't have to do it all at once. Remember it is just a tick at a time, a tick at a time."

In these present days as many of us look ahead and see and contemplate the many difficulties to be overcome and the great problems to be solved we are apt to emulate the grandfather clock in its despair and exclaim: "We can't stand it; we can't do it." Looking at the sum total of the things to be faced and to be done, we become discouraged, forgetting that, after all, we are called upon to do only one thing at a time, and that that one thing is not beyond our ability or strength.

Furthermore, in the doing of that one thing immediately confronting us, we develop the ability and build up the strength which enables us to successfully tackle the next thing, and thus we go on from strength to strength, achievement following achievement, whereas nothing but weakness and failure would result from idle contemplation of the many tasks ahead, leading to discouragement which prevented even a start being made.

If at the inception of the project to build the Canadian Pacific Railway, financiers and contractors looking from Montreal towards the Pacific Ocean began to count the number of miles of track that were necessary and the millions of ties to be laid, not to mention the streams to be bridged, the tunnels to be bored, and the mountains to be climbed, they, too, might well have exclaimed: "We can't do it; it is too much." But they had the sense to realize that it was a case of laying down one tie at a time, spiking one rail at a time, and that every tie laid and every rail spiked helped to lay the next tie and spike the next rail. And so the job was done in record time, and the whole history of Canada and the Empire changed for the better.

And so it is with the individual life. Life goes on a "tick at a time." As babies we learn to walk a step at a time, thus preparing for the many millions of steps we will take throughout the years to come. We learn the alphabet a letter at a time in preparation for the multitude of words we later will require to use, and we laboriously recite that "one times one makes two, and two times two makes four," and thus we master the whole world of arithmetic, and in so doing find that nothing is impossible.

And in the philosophy of life it is also well to remember that success and achievement is not confined solely to things material. Too often we regard material reverses and material losses as the "fatal" things of life, forgetting that health, contentment and happiness are the really vital things that matter. And these essential attributes of life are achieved just as material things are gained by, as the little clock said, "a tick at a time."

Grain Samples For Europe

Samples From All Parts Of The West Sent To European Traders

Samples of this year's western Canadian grain crop, on which the prices offered by British and European traders will partly be based, have reached Montreal from Winnipeg and will be shipped immediately to most of the British and continental grain exchanges.

The samples were prepared at the office of the chief grain inspector at Winnipeg and are contained in strong close woven bags.

These samples were shipped by the Board Grain Commissioners and are billed to the grain exchanges and grain trade associations in Germany, Holland, Italy, Belgium, France, England, Ireland and Scotland.

The samples, which are made up annually by the western grain standards committee in Winnipeg, contain grain from practically every district in the prairie west and give a fair indication of the quality of wheat which European consumers might expect in the filling of large orders. Specimens of each grade are included, and before shipment is authorized, each sample is analyzed and approved by Dr. F. J. Birchard, chief chemist of the Board of Grain Commissioners' Research Laboratory.

Another Growing Industry

Exports Of Canadian Salmon Have More Than Doubled

Canada is replacing the United States in the British market for canned salmon and for the first nine months of the present calendar year, the Dominion more than doubled its exports over the corresponding period a year ago.

Up to the end of September, according to the current issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal, the United Kingdom imported from Canada 108,000 cwt. of canned salmon, while imports from the United States totalled 96,000 cwt. During the same period last year Canada's share was only 47,000 cwt., while that of the United States was considerably over 100,000 cwt.

Britain imported 262,000 cwt. of canned salmon during 1930.

"THESE HARD TIMES"

"The hard times and scarcity of money makes it more important than ever to economize. One way I save on clothes is by renewing the color of faded or out-of-style dresses, coats, stockings, and underwear. For dyeing, or tinting, I always use Diamond Dyes. They are the most economical dyes by far because they never fail to produce results that matter. They are new when they come in the hands of a dyer. They never spot, streak, or run. They are so smooth and evenly, when in the hands of an even ten year old child. Another thing, they are so easy to use. They take the life out of cloth or leave it limp as some dyes do. They deserve to be called 'the world's finest dyes'."

Scheme May Work

British Have Idea To Keep Indian Tribesmen Quiet

Non-violent methods to keep the tribesmen of North-western India quiet are to be used soon by the British. Instead of bombs, an aeroplane is to be filled with a powerful loud-speaker, from which ordinary tones will emerge immensely magnified. The expectation is that the natives will then be so frightened by the noise that they will not fight the mighty white man, who could not help killing some of them.

Miller's Worm Powders work so effectively that no traces of worms can be found. The pests pass away in the stool without being perceptible. They make an entire and clean sweep of the intestines, and nothing in the shape of a worm can find lodgment there. When these powders are in operation. Nothing could be more thorough or desirable than their action.

Has Served Forty-Five Years

Inspector Cumming Of Royal Canadian Mounted Retires On Pension

With a record of 45 years service in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the R.N.W.M.P., Inspector W. A. Cumming, following a six months' leave of absence, will be retired on a pension at the end of that time. It was learned at the Regina headquarters.

Inspector Cumming tendered his resignation in October. He came from Toronto as a boy and joined the then Royal North West Mounted Police in 1885. He was promoted through the non-commissioned ranks until he has reached his present rank which he has held for a number of years. He has been district paymaster and quartermaster. He was also in charge of the weather bureau at Regina.

Inspector Cumming has the distinction of being the only man in the service for such a long period. Mrs. Cumming is also a pioneer, coming to the west from England 49 years ago. Five sons served in the world war. Three of them were wounded and one was a prisoner of war for three years.

Says Cancellation Of Taxes Impossible

Premier Anderson Warns Saskatchewan Residents That Municipal Taxes Cannot Be Wiped Out

"There is no manner whereby taxes can be wiped out or dispensed with," declared Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, in a recent statement in which he warned against the assumption, in some sections of the province, that taxes due rural municipalities would be cancelled. Inability of the municipalities to collect taxes, he said, could only result in the discontinuance or curtailment of essential municipal services, while continuance under government control would virtually mean abolition of local self-government without any release from taxation. The full text of the statement, which is a significant and important one in the present juncture, follows:

"The Government has received many letters having to do with the payment of taxes. Some of our correspondents suggest that there is a feeling abroad in some rural districts that a large percentage of the taxes due to rural municipalities by the ratepayers will be cancelled or wiped out in some manner. It is pointed out that this feeling is having a very bad effect on tax collections.

"A little consideration will show that such a course of action is impossible. There is no manner whereby taxes can be wiped out or dispensed with. The taxes paid by our people to their municipalities are spent on five main lines:

1. To assist in maintaining schools.
2. To assist in operating our sanatoria.
3. To pay for municipal telephone debentures.

4. To pay interest and principal payments due on indebtedness owing by municipalities.
5. To pay for municipal hail insurance where same exists.

"Taxes are levied to maintain these services because the ratepayers of each municipality voted in favor of having these services. It is agreed that a considerable number of our rural municipalities are 'incumbered with debt on account of their expenditures for relief purposes, but it must be remembered that these relief expenditures were exceptional as the times are exceptional.

"If municipalities cannot collect their own taxes because of a disinclination of its residents to pay them, then these services which their own ratepayers voted in favor of having cannot be carried on. It has been suggested that they would still be carried on by the Government taking over the administration of same. If this were done, it would mean the abolition of local self-government and would not decrease the taxes of the ratepayers in these rural areas one iota. Money would have to be found to maintain such services, whether found by the rural municipal council or by the Provincial Government. These monies could come from one source and from one source only, and that is from the pockets of the people and from no other place.

"We are living in serious times. Municipalities find that although their revenues are decreasing their obligations remain the same and, in some instances, have increased. It is too late at the present time to repudiate these obligations by saying that we shall not pay taxes to assist in meeting them. It is too late to say that while we need these services some one else has to pay for them, particularly when we ourselves have voted for these services. If these difficult times have one lesson for us it is that services are not free. They must be paid for. We are now confronted with the unpleasant duty of paying for these services which we must pay for by means of our taxes. There is no other way.

"What is true of taxes is true of other legitimate accounts. When it is within the power of the debtor to make reasonable payments, then reasonable payments should be made."

Increase In The World's Wheat Consumption Indicates The Grain Industry Has Promising Future

Strengthening wheat prices and improved demand for that cereal indicate that the international situation is clarifying and the two-year decline in prices is at an end. The economic depths to which wheat sank had the direct result of reducing acreage to the extent of some 14,000,000 acres in Canada, United States, Australia and Argentina, and weather conditions have created a further reduction in production so that it now seems apparent that the world's surplus will be drastically reduced before the end of the crop year.

The world movement of wheat for the present crop year has averaged around 16,250,000 bushels weekly. This demand is running higher by a million and a quarter bushels weekly than the early estimates of the Broomhall, well known British wheat authority. The healthy demand is due to low carryovers in importing countries and the comparatively poor quality of the current European crop. Non-European countries have purchased nearly 39,000,000 bushels of wheat so far this crop year, which is 14,000,000 bushels greater than the purchases for the same period last year.

At the present time the attention of millers and traders is centered in the United States' winter wheat area. There is no doubt that the wheat prospect there is not encouraging insofar as large production is concerned. The official estimate of winter wheat seedling will not be available for a month and a half, but private observers predict at least a 16 per cent. reduction in acreage. Last year United States winter wheat area averaged 39 bushels to the acre, on 40,000,000 acres. Winter killing was comparatively trivial because of the ideal condition of the crop as it went into the winter, and the favorable winter weather. The crop this year will go into the winter season under very poor conditions and greater winter killing may be anticipated.

On the whole, the world wheat picture looks a lot brighter at the present time. Dealers show a confidence which has been absent for the past two years and there is always more inclination to buy on a rising market than in the face of falling prices.

In spite of all that has been said about wheat consumption, late figures released by the Dominion Government show that there has been a decided increase in the world's wheat consumption. In the 10-year period from 1921 to 1931, the annual disappearance of wheat has increased by some 700,000,000 bushels. This would lead to the assumption that the wheat industry still has a promising future and that as the years go by the prairies of Western Canada will be called upon more and more to supply the world's daily bread—Calgary Herald.

Japan Making Progress

People Seem Determined To Be Up-To-Date

Japan is determined to be "in" all the modern movements, and the latest reports from that land of cherry blossom show that the young ladies of Nippon have taken up hiking. The Japanese maidens, the Summer School of Oriental Culture at Tokyo, was recently informed, "situate Mount Fuji, but they are quite capable of climbing it with knapsacks on their backs." Japanese professional men, too, are determined to be in the swim. When representatives of the world's dentists met at Paris recently, they were astonished at the big strides the Japanese had made in dental science.

New York and London

Competition Over Population Might Have Better Results In Other Fields

We are rather bored with the periodic argument over whether New York or London is actually the largest city in the world. Even though Dr. Joseph A. Hill, Acting Census Director, now declares that the issue has been settled in our favor and produces two sets of figures to prove this point, we are not greatly impressed. It is an honor in which we are uninterested and except for sympathy for London, nothing would please us better than to discover in the next census figures that New York's population had shrunk to half that of the British capital. If there is to be competition between New York and London, there are other fields in which it might be productive of more significant results. On such matters as homicides, motor accidents, noise abatement, park facilities, municipal cleanliness, traffic regulations, public schools and many other municipal phenomena, not excluding official corruption, a little rivalry between New York and London might be a good thing. It is unfortunate that the one aspect of this city in which we seem to take delight in presenting comparisons with London is our size. Perhaps it is a confession of weakness. —New York Evening Post.

Danger In Stored Fodder

Feed Should Be Thoroughly Dried Before Storing In Barn

Issuing a warning to farmers of the danger of storing green feed and Russian thistle in hay bales, this gives rise to spontaneous combustion, Hon. J. F. Bryant, K.C., warns Saskatchewan farmers that every care be taken in the storing of such feed. He said he had received a letter from an adjuster of one of the large mutual insurance companies advising him of a case in the southwestern part of the province where a farmer had put up large quantities of green feed and several loads of Russian thistle on September 12, and on September 30 the barn was burned as a result of spontaneous combustion. Farmers having this type of feed to store would be well advised to store it outside until it is thoroughly dried before storing it in the hay mow.

The Enterprising Australian

Australian enterprise is undaunted by little difficulties such as moving a house. A Western Australian settler got sick and as he lived a mile and a half from his nearest friend, the latter thought he could be looked after better if he were nearer. But the settler refused to leave his house, so the friend made a "bee" and jacking up the house, they put it on a trap and moved it all to the friend's house.

British Industries Fair 1932

To Be Held In London and Birmingham, England, 22nd February To 5th March

Already the largest national trade exhibition in the world, the British Industries Fair, or the "B.I.F.," as it is becoming known in every language, is to be in 1932 still bigger and more representative of British industry than ever before.

This unique display of the manufactures of the home country and of the produce of the Empire countries will open in London and Birmingham on February 22, a date which is chosen because it is convenient for the principal buying season in a majority of the industries represented, and in order to attract the trade buyers from other countries who are in the habit of paying their annual business visit to Europe at that time of year.

In London, the principal development will be a new section filling a large part of the White city, Shepherd's Bush, for the first combined display of the great textile industries of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Last February for the first time there was a new section at the White City for the products of the cotton textile industry, while the British Artificial Silk Exhibition became to all intents and purposes part of the Fair by being held during the first week of the Fair at the Royal Albert Hall.

These two exhibitions, the Cotton section organized by the Lancashire Cotton Trade organizations, and the Artificial Silk Show were such a success that meetings were called of representatives of these and other textile industries and it was unanimously decided to make a joint display in 1932.

The lighter industries other than textiles, will continue to be housed at Olympia where also the Empire Marketing Board will have its display of the products of the British Dominions and Colonies.

The heavier industries, once again, will have their display in the mammoth permanent Fair Buildings at Castle Bromwich, Birmingham, and there no less than in London, important developments are promised. One of the most important, involving still further extensions of the buildings, is a new section for cycles and motor cycles, their component parts, tires and other rubber equipment, and accessories of every kind. This section, which will be the first representative display in the Fair of the British cycle and motor cycle industry, is being organized by the Fair Board of Management, in Birmingham in co-operation with the British Cycle and Motor Cycle Manufacturers' and Traders' Union who will have an information bureau in the section.

In many minor ways the overseas buyers will find the B.I.F. of 1932 more convenient and attractive than in previous years, and it is hoped for the first time to make arrangements for civic and other forms of hospitality which are likely to appeal to the business man from abroad, whether from a British or a foreign country.

Admittance during business hours is by invitation only. Invitations can be obtained from The Office of H. M. Trade Commissioner, 703, Royal Bank Building, Winnipeg.

Says Canada Stands On Threshold Of Another Era Of Expansion Such As Has Never Been Known

Canadian Wheat Wanted

Dr. W. W. Swanson Predicts Keen Demand In Near Future

"The billions of bushels of fictitious wheat supplies have faded away," Dr. W. W. Swanson, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan and advisor on wheat marketing problems to Premier R. B. Bennett at the last imperial conference, told an interviewer at Saskatoon.

Dr. Swanson reiterated the statement he made several months ago that the so-called surplus was not due to a wheat acreage too large for the world needs but mainly to the abnormal world crop of 1929. He regretted the small western crop this year as he predicts a keen demand, particularly for the higher grades of Canadian wheat to build up the low quality wheat of Europe.

Dr. Swanson looks for rapid disposal of the holdings of the U.S. farm board and regards neither Russia nor the Argentine Republic "as the formidable competitors that many have supposed."

Wrong Diet Ruins Teeth

Food More Important Than Tooth Brush Says Dental Scientist

It's the conviction of Dr. Perry R. Howe, president of dental science at Harvard University, that the diet is mightier than the toothbrush in keeping teeth sound.

The professor was awarded the Fawcett medal for his researches into the influence of diets on teeth at the convention of the American Dental Association here.

"Brushing teeth is to remove bacteria deposits," he said. "We've been brushing our teeth for 50 years and we still have cavities. Toothbrushes aren't the answer. Diet is."

He recommended more vegetables, fruits and milk in the average diet along with less meats and cereals.

Blind Led the Blind

Each Under the Impression Other One Could See

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, comptometer operator, blind since birth, stood on a busy intersection waiting for someone to help her across the street.

A man stepped up and asked: "May go across with you?"

"I'd be glad if you would," replied Mrs. Wilson.

Safely across the street, the man thanked Mrs. Wilson.

"Why, I want to thank you," she said.

"You know," the man continued, "when one has been blind as many years as I have it is a mighty big favor to have some one help him across the street."

Additional Census Bulletin

An additional census bulletin, covering several cities and towns in western Canada, has been issued. Population of Prince Albert is given as 9,886, as compared with 7,538 in 1921. The Pas, Manitoba, has had a gain of 2,157 to a total population of 4,015, an increase of 116.09 per cent.

Canada can lead the world into the era of expansion and prosperity which awaits it if Canadians will realize their duties and face them with confidence and optimism, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told a gathering of business men at Stratford.

Endowed with tremendous resources, favorably situated among other nations, Canadians have every reason for believing that an upturn has been reached in their own and world conditions, he said. But they must realize that they share part of the responsibilities of a democratic institution resting upon their own, and not the government's shoulders, and keep to the middle course, which will mean a continuance of the freedom they have now.

With rising commodity prices, more favorable trade balances than have obtained for years, Canada stands on the threshold of "another Victorian era, another era of expansion such as the world has never known, an era in which two-thirds of humanity will learn to know and want the advantages which it has never felt before," he declared. And Canada, he added, is in the position of being in the vanguard of the nations which will benefit most, not tag behind weakly.

Shipping Call To China

Canada Has Received Order For One Hundred Head

Preparations are practically completed for an experimental shipment of Canadian dairy cattle to China, David Hunter, of Grimby Beach, Ont., field man of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association, stated at Montreal.

Canada had received an order for 100 head of cattle for the Dairy Farm, Ice and Cold Storage Company of Hong Kong and the order was being filled with Ontario and Quebec Holsteins and Ayrshires, Mr. Hunter said. Some 14 Ayrshire cattle left Huntington, Quebec, November 13, and the Ontario quota of Holsteins left Dundas a few days later, he said.

The cattle were going to Hong Kong for breeding and dairy purposes, Mr. Hunter said. If the shipment was successful, it was hoped it would be instrumental in opening up the Japanese market also.

Bees Keep To Right

Exhibit In Museum At Washington Proves This Fact

A bee hive with its own cooling system and traffic laws is on exhibition under glass at the National Museum at Washington. A hive made of glass is connected with the outside world by a glass passageway. The worker bees travel through it in collecting nectar from flowers outside. They keep to the right in the passage, crawling speedily in the proper lanes. If the interior of the hive becomes too warm, say museum authorities, the bees will flap their wings rapidly to cool the air.

Dominion Bureau Of Statistics Announces Change In System

A new livestock survey is to be undertaken by the Dominion Government, particularly of breeding and marketing intentions, on December 1 of this year. It has been announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Since 1917, an annual survey has been made in June, in co-operation with the provincial governments, and in future years it is intended to continue a dual survey basis as at June and December 1, and thus secure a perspective of the livestock industry every six months.

In every province, except British Columbia, cards will be distributed to farmers through the rural schools. In British Columbia, the cards will be mailed direct to farmers for their attention. In certain areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan where rural schools are not organized, the livestock associations have co-operated in providing mailing lists so that the ranchers may be reached directly. The cards will be distributed during the latter half of November.

Upward Trend Of Trade

Advance In Wholesale Price Of Commodities Is Noted

A continued favorable trend in Canada is shown by government statistics states a report issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Figures show, says the report, the first advance in the wholesale price index since August 1, 1929; increased output of hydro-electricity; a continued upward swing in industrial and public utility common stocks on Canadian markets and increased production of coal, petroleum and other minerals.

The report states the most favorable factor was the upswing in wholesale prices, recording advances in grain values and in iron and iron products, in electrolytic copper, lead, silver, tin and zinc.

The advance in prices of non-ferrous metals is calculated to benefit to a considerable extent mining in Canada of copper, silver, lead, tin and zinc.

An Earthquake Day

Italy Has More Than Its Share Of Shocks

Earthquakes shiver up and down the Apennine razor backbone of Italy at the rate of more than one a day, or an average of 433 a year. Professor Palazzo, head of the weather bureau in Rome, who receives and classifies the quake reports, has come to the conclusion that earth-shocks prefer some months of the year and some hours of the day. July is the favorite month; then come August, September and January. Earthquakes choose to wreak their havoc at night rather than in the day. The favorite hours are between midnight and 4 o'clock in the morning.

Egg Production

Essentials To Success Which Must Be Observed

Officials of Iowa State College advise that in the management of hens kept for egg production the following essentials to success should be observed:

"Efficient and economical production practice demands an abundance of correctly balanced high quality feed and sanitary methods.

"When other influences are equal, the increase in income is directly proportionate to the increase in production per hen.

"Five important feed requirements are water, carbohydrates or fat for energy, protein for muscle repair, minerals for egg shell and bone repair and vitamins.

"A part of the ration must be ground feed or mash to provide a medium for the protein concentrate necessary to balance the ration.

"A mash rich in protein permits the use of a large proportion of whole grain.

"Sanitation in feeding practice is important.

"Provide plenty of hopper feeding space and other equipment to prevent crowding.

"Study the physical condition of the flock."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN ROME

Golden Text: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."—Philippians 4:13.

Lesson: Acts 25:1-12; 28:16-31.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 22:4.

Explanations and Comments

Rome At Last, verse 16.—While still in Ephesus Paul declared that after he had been to Jerusalem he must see Rome. Little did he realize that more than three years, packed with surprising happenings, would elapse before he reached Rome in chains. He "must see Rome." Just as the cohorts and representatives of the Roman government and the merchants of Roman trade went out to all the world along the far-extending network of Roman roads, so Paul expected the message of Christ and His triumphant reign to go out over those same roads to the last corner of the Roman world.

Rome was the great climax of Paul's work, and of Luke's history. In his eagerness which he shared with the apostle in achieving their long-desired goal, Luke inserts in his record a sort of double arrival. In verse fourteen he says, "So we came to Rome, and again in verse sixteen he adds, "And when we entered into Rome." Paul was shown much leniency during his journey in Rome. Possibly the good report of Festus and Agrippa concerning the prisoner they had sent them gave Paul an advantage, and without doubt Julius, the centurion whom Paul had helped on his journey, interceded for him. Instead of being kept in the guardhouse of the Praetorian camp Paul was allowed to hire a house, or lodging, and live there by himself with the soldier who guarded him, and to whom he was chained. He often alludes to these chains in his letters, as he does to the prominent Jews of Rome who came to visit him, verse 20. See 2 Timothy 1:16; Colossians 4:3; Philimon 10; Ephesians 6:20.

There was a frequent change of soldiers, and thus Paul had an opportunity of spreading his message widely among the Praetorian guard. In Philippians 1:13, Paul says that his bonds had enabled him to preach Christ "throughout the whole Praetorian guard."

The chain on Paul's wrist was his chance to have a listener to his message, and he could write to the Philippians, "I would have you to know that the things which have happened to me have fallen out rather unto the progress of the gospel." Handcuffs can be counted just handcuffs, or capital on which to do the business in hand. It is a great art to make one's handcuffs one's tools, the very instruments of one's success. Every one knows how Bunyan turned Bedford Jail into Pilgrim's Progress.

Western Fair Dates

Canadian and British Talent May Be Engaged To Supply Attractions

Western Canada Fair Association decided, at a meeting in Saskatoon, members that, as far as possible, Canadian or British artists would be engaged to supply attractions at summer fairs through western Canada in 1932.

While no decision as to attractions was arrived at, it is understood that several offers have been received from British bands and British vaudeville artists seeking engagements for next year. All managers and delegates attending the meeting expressed their desire that only Canadian or British Empire artists should appear on the program next summer.

A considerable part of the time of the meeting was taken up with the discussion of ways and means for adopting economies which would not impair the efficiency of the fairs.

Dates of summer fairs for next year were set: Brandon was allotted the week ending July 4; Calgary, July 11; Edmonton, July 18; Saskatoon, July 25; and Regina, August 1. Dates set for 1933 were: Brandon, opening July 3; Calgary, July 10; Edmonton, July 17; Saskatoon, July 24; and Regina, July 31.

Winter fair dates agreed on were: Brandon, starting March 14; Regina, March 21; Saskatoon and Calgary, March 28; and Edmonton, April 4.

Recommends Central Bank For Empire

Would Act As Clearing House For All Banks

A joint committee appointed by the Federation of British Industries and the Empire Economic Union, to examine the financial and currency policy of the empire, recommended the creation of a central bank to act as a clearing house for all banks of the British Empire.

The report further suggests summoning of an empire currency conference which might be able to establish a "pax-Britannica built up out of the present anxiety of the world's monetary affairs."

LITTLE REAL PROGRESS MADE TO END WAR

Montreal, Que.—Armistice Day, 1931, 13 years after the war "which was to end war," found little real progress toward the goal of peace. General Sir Arthur Currie, Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian corps in France, declared in a speech on disarmament here.

Hope that had sustained the combatants during the dark days of the war, that their suffering would ensure that their children and their children's children would never have to undergo a similar horrible experience, had been shattered. "The prospects of permanent peace are no more assured today than they were in 1918," he stated.

"I am sure you will join me," Sir Arthur stated, "in praying that the next disarmament conference is a success, that it succeeds in bringing about an honest and universal reduction in the killing and wounding power of arms. It will do no good, in fact, it would have the opposite effect, if one nation disarms honestly and others do not. Disarmament must be honest, must be mutual, must be universal."

"Thirteen years have gone by and how great has been our disillusionment. It is true we have tried to do something which we hoped would prevent war. For ten years we have had the League of Nations, whose definite purpose is the promotion of peace and the settlement of international controversy by peaceful means."

"We have our Locarno and Washington pacts, we have the Kellogg Briand treaty which registers the determination of more than 60 countries including the United States and Russia, to condemn recourse to war for solution of controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy," he went on.

"The history of the past has taught us, and the history of the present confirms most emphatically, that these solemn engagements are easily disregarded. Witness what is now happening in Manchuria between China and Japan. Whatever the irritation by China, and I have no doubt it has been great, Japan has broken her word and prostituted her pledge by her war-like actions in the last month. With inexcusable effrontery she has defied the League of Nations, which seems to be as powerless as it has been weak."

Sir Arthur felt a great mistake had been made by the League in inviting a representative of the United States of America to join the Council. That political move seemed to have loomed larger in the eyes of the League than the struggle itself, "or did they know that the League would fall and wish to have the United States of America associated with the failure?"

Ask Rate Revision

Application To Imperial Shipping Committee For Lower Marine Rates To Churchill

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, has announced that the Canadian Government has made formal application to the Imperial Shipping Committee for a revision of marine insurance rates on the Hudson Bay route.

This committee announced the length of season and the rates last spring. The season was about six weeks in length and the rates considered high. Since then a test movement of two ships of wheat has been carried out. Both ships made the trip to Churchill without delay or difficulty and complete data on their voyages are in the hands of the Imperial Shipping Committee. Upon the strength of this test movement a downward revision of insurance rates is being sought. The committee will have months to work on this reference before the 1932 season opens.

Economic Conference

Ottawa Pleased With Decision To Hold Farley In Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—Announcement by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of the acceptance of the invitation of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett for the assembling in Ottawa of the postponed Imperial Economic Conference was heartily welcomed in the capital. While no official statement was made, it is understood that the governments of other parts of the empire are likewise sympathetic to the proposal of Premier Bennett.

About the middle of July or perhaps a week later is viewed as the probable date of assembling of the first conference of its nature to meet in the Canadian capital to discuss matters appertaining to the advancement of intra-empire trade. By that time, it is fully expected, New Zealand will have held its general elections and all parts of the Empire will be in a position to be represented through ministers of the crown, an obstacle in the case of New Zealand and Australia which caused the postponement, by mutual agreement of the Dominions, of the conference which had been called to meet in Ottawa on August 12 last. The Canadian Parliament, expected to convene in the latter part of January, will probably prorogue in ample time to afford the completion of arrangements for the conference here.

The date of the visit to Canada of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, to discuss intra-empire trade matters preliminary to the Ottawa assembly, is not definitely known. Mr. Thomas is to visit other Dominions to continue his discussions. With Mr. Bennett leaving for a holiday, it is possible that Mr. Thomas may not come to Canada until the latter part of December or early next year.

Menace Of Armaments

The Very Root Of War, Says Sir Robert Borden

Ottawa, Ont.—The menace of armaments is the very root of war, and by war mankind has been martyred, said Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime Prime Minister in a Remembrance Day message here. More than ever the menace of armaments oppressed the world today he asserted.

"Can we estimate humanity's irreparable loss in the sacrifice of this generation that went forth to conflict nearly two decades ago?" he questioned. "In how great measure are present day burdens, destitutions, distress due to the destruction and wastage of that conflict and of past wars?"

Sir Robert dealt with disarmament. He stated that the nations signatory to the League of Nations covenant gave therein their pledge that national armaments should be reduced to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the fulfillment of international obligations for common action.

"The actual work of the league began ten years ago," he said. "During at least seven years the ablest and most earnest minds have devoted their full energies and their most intensive effort to the fulfilment of this pledge. Substantial progress has been made, and, if world conditions permit, a disarmament conference of the world's nations will meet in February. It will be confronted with the almost insuperable task of committing each nation to substantial reduction of its armaments."

Foolish Economy

War Debts Blamed For World-Wide Depression

London, Eng.—High points touched by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, speaking at the first business session of the new House of Commons. A system of "crazy economy" in regard to war debts and reparations has brought about world-wide depression. "It is impossible to decree that without regard to circumstances certain blocks of gold shall be transferred from one nation to another without resulting in impoverishment of the nation which hands out the gold and ultimately of that which received it."

Premier Laval's visit to the United States should lead to an understanding between France and Germany. "In the full and frank understanding, however, every nation involved must be a party to the agreement."

Planning Big Domestic Loan

Bonds Will Probably Be On Sale Very Shortly

Ottawa, Ont.—Good progress is being made in preparing plans for the domestic loan which will shortly be launched by the Dominion Government. While no official information has yet been given out, it will probably be a week before the sale of new bonds actually begins.

The rate of interest is said to have been fixed at five per cent, but further conferences will be held before the final decision is reached as to just what price the bonds will be offered to the public. The general impression is that the amount of the loan asked for will be $125,000,000. The money is to be used for meeting requirements of unemployment relief and for various other purposes.

Shocks British House

Labor Member Derides Speech From the Throne

London, Eng.—Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, Parliamentary veteran and leader of the Labor Opposition, shocked the House of Commons by waving a copy of the King's speech opening Parliament and describing it as "this incongruous document, full of nothing from beginning to end."

His gesture came in the midst of a scathing attack on the new government for what he called its vague policies and upon the Prime Minister himself, for the part he played in forming the National Government.

British Parliament Opened

Facing Scene Of Splendor King Reads Speech From Throne

London, Eng.—In the great Chamber of the House of Lords, glowing with scarlet, gold and precious stones, the King officially opened Parliament on November 10.

The day began with showers of rain, but along the whole route from Buckingham Palace to Westminster great crowds lined the road cheering as His Majesty passed by. And, as the King, accompanied by the Queen, entered the Chamber of the House of Lords they faced a scene of splendor. Uniformed ambassadors were grouped on the right and the centre of the floor was so packed with peers that two former viceroys of India, Lord Irwin and Lord Reading, only with difficulty found seats. Along either side of the chamber the wives of the peers sat wearing royal ransoms in diamonds and other costly jewels.

There was a brief pause while the Gentleman of the Black Rod summoned the faithful members of the House of Commons to the Bar of the House of Lords. Then, in a clear voice, His Majesty read the Speech from the Throne. It contained a reference to receipt from the Canadian Government of an invitation to an Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, an invitation "which has been welcomed by my ministers and will be considered in a most sympathetic spirit and with earnest desire to come to some mutually advantageous arrangement with the governments of my Dominion."

Another Prominent Alberta Woman Dead

Mrs. O. C. Edwards Of Macleod, Succumbs To Pneumonia

Lethbridge, Alberta.—Mrs. O. C. Edwards, prominent in the National Council of Women, died November 10, of pneumonia at her home in Macleod, Alberta.

Mrs. Edwards was one of the five distinguished Alberta women who carried the appeal to the Privy Council which gave women the right to sit in the Canadian Senate.

She was a past vice-president of the National Council of Women, and convener of the legislative committee of the National Council. Mrs. Edwards was a recognized authority on laws for women and children.

Alberta Cattle Exports

Calgary, Alberta.—With approximately 6,000 head shipped from Alberta since the opening of the season in the spring, export of cattle to the Old Country has benighted Alberta ranchers to a great extent, according to J. J. Bowen, M.P., for Calgary. In September, 1,000 head were shipped, while total export from the Dominion was about 22,000 head.

LEAGUE TO DEAL WITH TROUBLE IN MANCHURIA

London, Eng.—Sir John Simon, new Foreign Secretary, is going to Paris for the League of Nations meeting concerning Manchuria, and it is announced that U.S. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes will observe the proceedings for the United States.

In London the opinion is that the issue will be brought down to earth at this session and some sort of definite plan for dealing with the situation in Manchuria may be evolved.

One way out, it is suggested here, would be for the League to appoint an international investigating commission whose work in the Far East would require several months during which the belligerents might cool off and the dispute might be settled by peaceful negotiations.

Failing this, an alternative would be an attempt to force Japanese obedience to the League's dictates, but no authoritative commentator would be thought the League was likely to adopt such a course.

Geneva, Switzerland.—Japan has resumed the offensive in the Nonni Bridge area in Manchuria, China declared in an urgent communication to the League of Nations. The message said that Japan's troops had advanced their lines and were 20 kilometres on the road to Tatsihar.

The Chinese were retiring, the communication continued, under bomb attacks and shell fire from the Japanese forces.

Two more notes from Dr. Alfred See, Chinese member of the League of Nations Council, charged that Japanese military authorities in Manchuria were working systematically to displace local Chinese authorities with groups under Japanese control.

Unable To Act

Sir John Simon Now Deprived From Acting On Canadian Cases

London, Eng.—The acceptance by Sir John Simon of the foreign secretaryship in the National Government automatically deprived several important Canadian interests of his legal services, particularly in cases before the Privy Council.

It was intimated he should lead for Quebec province in the radio control appeal, the hearing of which is expected to take place early in December, but it is now presumed some Canadian counsel will appear in his stead.

"You are wonderful—your English! If it had been I, who had experienced your adventure today, I should be fit for nothing. As to dancing the same evening—'na foi, non! Voyons,' I shall leave you to rest a little."

She nodded smilingly and left the room. Once in the corridor outside, however, the smile vanished as though it had been wiped off her face by an unseen hand. Her curving lips settled into a hard, inflexible line, and the soft, disarming dark eyes grew suddenly somber and brooding.

She passed swiftly along to her own suit. It was empty. The little Countess was downstairs, agreeably occupied in comparing symptoms with a fellow health crank he discovered.

With a quick sigh of relief at his absence she flung herself into a chair and lit a cigarette, smoking rapidly and exhaling the smoke in quick nervous jerks. The long, plant fingers which held the cigarette were not quite steady.

"Tout va bien!" she muttered restlessly. "All goes well! Assuredly, his punishment will come!" She bent her head. "Que Dieu le veuille!" she whispered passionately.

Jean took a final and not altogether displeased survey of herself in the mirror before descending to the big "salon" where the fancy-dress ball was to be held. She had had her dinner served to her in her room so that she might rest the longer, and now, as there came wanted to her ears the preliminary grunts and squeals and snatches of melody of the hotel orchestra in process of tuning up, she was conscious of a pleasant glow of anticipation.

There was nothing strikingly original about the conception of her costume. It represented "Autumn," and had been designed for a fancy-dress ball for more than a year ago—before the death of Jacques had suddenly shattered down all gaiety and mirth at Blerfaels. But, simple as it was, it had been carried out by an artist in colour, and the filmy diaphanous layers of brown and orange and scarlet, one over the other, zoned with a gridle of autumn-tinted leaves, served to emphasize the russet of beech-leaves and the topaz-gold of hazel eyes.

Madame de Varigny's glance swept the girl with approval as they entered the great "salon" together.

"But it is charming, your costume! Regarde, Henri!"—turning to the Count, who, as a swashbuckler d'Artagnan, was getting into difficulties with his sword. "Has it not distinction—this costume d'automne?"

The Count retrieved himself and, hitting his sword once more into position, poured forth an unembarrassed stream of Gallic comment. Madame de Varigny herself was looking supremely handsome as Cleopatra. Jean reflected that her eyes—slumberous and profound, with their dusky fringes of lashes and that strange implacability she always sensed in them—might very well have been the eyes of the Egyptian queen herself.

The "salon" was filling up rapidly. Jean, who did not anticipate dancing overmuch, as she had made but few acquaintances in the hotel, watched the cocktail, shifting scene with interest. There was the usual miscellany of a masquerade—Pierrots jostling against Kings and Queens, Monsieur and Mesdemoiselle flaunting their jewels before the eyes of demure-faced nuns, with here and there an occasional costume of outstanding originality or merit of design. Contrary to her expectations, however, Jean soon found herself with more partners than she had dances to bestow, and, newly emancipated from the rigour of her year's mourning, she threw herself into the enjoyment of the moment with the long repressed enthusiasm of her youth.

It was nearing the small hours when at last she found herself alone for a few moments. In the exhilaration of rapid movement she had completely forgotten the earlier fatigues of the day, but now she was beginning to feel conscious of the strain which the morning's skating, followed by that long, exhausting struggle through the billiard, had imposed upon even young bones and muscles. Close at hand was a deserted alcove, curtained off from the remainder of the "salon," and here Jean found temporary sanctuary, subduing thankfully on to a big cushioned divan.

The sound of the orchestra came to her ears pleasantly dulled by the heavy folds of the screening alcove. Vaguely she could feel the rhythmic pulsing, the sense of movement, in the "salon" beyond. It was all very soothing and reposeful, and she leaned her head against a fat, pink satin cushion and dozed, at the back of her mind the faintly disturbing thought that she was cutting a Roman senator's dance.

Presently she stirred a little, hazily aware of some disquiet that was pushing itself into her consciousness. The discomfort grew, crystallizing at last into the feeling that she was no longer alone. For a moment, physically unwilling to be disturbed, she tried to disregard it, but it persisted, and, as though to strengthen it, the recollection of the defrauded senator came back to her with increased insistence.

Broad awake at last, she opened her eyes. Someone—the senator presumably—was standing at the entrance to the little alcove, and she rushed into consciousness—stricken speech.

"Oh, have I cut your dance? I'm so sorry."

She broke off abruptly, realizing as she spoke that the intruder was not after all the senator come to claim his dance, but a stranger wearing a black mask and domino. She was sure he had not seen him before amongst the dancers in the "salon." For a moment she stared at him bewildered and even a little frightened. Vague stories she had heard of a "hold-up" by masked men at some fancy-dress ball recalled themselves disagreeably to her memory, and her pulse quickened at her lack of perceptibility.

Then, quite suddenly, she knew who it was. It did not need even the evidence of that look of "poudri" hair

AS SHE LOST FAT
SHE LOST PAIN

Like many others, this woman found that excess fat did not come alone. In her case it brought scatica with it. She did not know that both troubles were due to a common cause—but she found they both gave way before one common remedy.

"I have been a martyr to scatica and kidney trouble for years. I took Kruschen for about a month, when people began telling me how well I looked. I have lost fat that was no good to me, and now, after three months of Kruschen, I only go 108 lbs. instead of 185 lbs. I'm not going to say my pains have all gone, but I do say I'm wonderfully well, and hope to improve yet. I like the day I started Kruschen."—Mrs. F. L. P.

The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day the waste and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes slowly, yes, but surely. The pains of scatica and rheumatism cease. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful, and energetic—more so than ever before in your life!

above the mask he wore, just visible in the dim light of the recess, to tell her. She knew, and with the knowledge came a sudden, disturbing sense of any tumult.

She half-rose from the divan. "You?" she stammered nervously. "Is it you?"

He whipped off his mask. "Who else? Did this deceive you?"—dangling the strip of velvet from his finger, and regarding her with quizzical grey eyes. "I've been hunting for you everywhere. I'd almost made up my mind that you had gone to bed like a good little girl. And then my patron saint—or was it the special devil told me to look after me. I wonder?—prompted me to look in here. 'Et vous voilà, mademoiselle!'"

How are you feeling after your exploits in the snow?" He spoke very rapidly, in a light half-mocking tone that seemed to Jean to make the happenings of the afternoon unreal and remote. His eyes were very bright, almost defiant in their expression—holding a suggestion of recklessness, as though he were embarked upon something of which his inmost self refused to approve but which he was nevertheless determined to carry through.

"So you did 'call to enquire,' after all."

As she spoke, Jean's mouth curled up at the corners in an involuntary little smile of amused recollection.

"So I did call after all?" He looked puzzled—not unamused, since he had no clue to her thoughts. "What do you mean? I came—he went on lightly—"because I wanted the rest of the day which you promised to share with me. The proceedings were cut short rather abruptly this afternoon."

"But how did you get here?" she asked. "And—why did you disappear so suddenly after we got back to the hotel this afternoon?"

"I got here by the aid of a pair of excellent skis and the light of the moon; the snow ceased some hours ago and the surface is hardening nicely. I disappeared because, as I told you, if you gave me this one day, it should bind you to nothing—not even to introducing me to your friends." "I should have had to present you as Monsieur l'Inconnu," remarked Jean without thinking.

"Yes." He met her glance with smiling eyes, but he did not volunteer his name. He had made no comment, uttered no word beyond the bald affirmative, yet somehow Jean felt as though she had committed an indiscretion and she had snubbed her for it. The blood rushed into her cheeks, staining them scarlet.

"I beg your pardon," she said stiffly.

Again that glint of ironical amusement in his eyes. "For what, mademoiselle?"

She was conscious of a rising indignation at his attitude. She could not understand it; he seemed to have completely changed from the man of a few hours ago. Firm in London Makes Wonderfully

Natural Artificial Eyes

There is in London, a firm in which eye making has been carried on by the same family for over 150 years. Artificial eyes made by this firm are so wonderful in their naturalness that even in a photograph no difference can be detected. It is possible even to make the pupil enlarge and contract. Business is done with Africa and with Eastern countries in the manufacture of eyes for idols. The eyes of a temple god must, of course, be of a very special kind. The fierce, war-like gods need piercing, flashing eyes, whilst those of the gentler kind require eyes that are liquid pools of sympathy.

YEAR'S ENDING

Now that the year turns towards its ending.

Bloom-time and seed-time leaves descending,
With gold and scarlet leaves descending.

Let me drift, too.

Let me forget too much of longing.
Too many plans and hopes,
For bright are hosts of beauty thronging.

Autumnal slopes.

Behind I leave the city's clamor
To dwindle to a sigh,
As down strange paths of dream and glamour.

The year goes by.

I would forget the care and travail,
The haste of anxious ways,
No tangled skeins would I unravel.

In these calm days.

Gone now desires beyond attaining.
Sweet, sweet, this joy life gives,
This beauty, through the year is waning.

That throbs and lives!

Manitoba Gold Production

Five Times Greater This Year Than In Previous Year

Production of gold in Manitoba during the current year is estimated at five times greater than the amount produced in previous years, according to Hon. G. D. McKenzie, Manitoba Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

He said there was considerable prospecting for gold around the Pas, but not for the base metals. "Many interesting mines are being reported, and it is expected two more mines will be opened next spring," he added.

Why suffer needlessly? Douglas' Egyptian Liniment brings quick, sure relief to scald feet, corns and warts. Relieves inflammation. Removes proud flesh.

Old-Age Pensions

"A letter has been sent out to all the provinces to the effect that it is the opinion of the Federal Government that new agreements on old-age pensions must be negotiated with each province and the Department of Justice has been asked to draft a standard form of agreement," said Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor.

Baer vs. Trautman.

Another stage was reached on Monday in the now celebrated case of Gottlieb Baer vs. Philip Trautman. Reversing a decision of Mr Justice Ford in an action brought against Trautman by Baer in supreme civil court, the appellate division of supreme court of Alberta on Monday allowed the appeal of Trautman and dismissed the action. Original ruling had awarded Baer $2000 general damages for expenses and loss of time incurred thru a leg injury suffered as a result of alleged negligence of Trautman while engaged in shifting logs for the latter near Golden Spike in May 1927.

At the trial before Mr Justice Ford, plaintiff had alleged that because of his inability to understand the English language he had not received adequate medical attention, and as a consequence his leg had to be broken over again and reset. The appellant Trautman, thru his counsel W. R. Howson, argued that Baer had been offered adequate medical attention.

Mr G Baer is well known here, having run a cake and pie shop on Main St. in the summer of 1929.

United Church Notes.

The U. F. A. church rally held on Sunday last was a splendid success, despite the extreme weather conditions. Unfortunately, Mr Norman Priestly was unable to be present, owing to bad roads and car trouble. However, Mrs A. Warr, president of the provincial U. F. W. A., did justice to the occasion by giving a most interesting address on the problems of the farm women of Alberta.

The speaker stressed the need for co-operation between the various women's organizations and the church, and made clear the fact that without the incentive of religion expressed in such words as "thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," there is little hope for progress. After the address, a vote of thanks was tendered by Mr Woodley. A very beautiful solo was sung by Mrs. Clarence Scott. Mr Samuel Everington and children played very beautiful orchestra music.

Miss Anderson acted as pianist for the occasion. At the conclusion, a brief poem was read by the pastor, Rev G. A. Sauder, who stated that owing to unfavorable weather at present, it is planned to hold a larger rally in the spring.

On Sunday evening last the service of the Stony Plain congregation was also of a special character. Mr and Mrs Norman Priestly, the latter of whom reached here on his way to Holborn, was prevailed upon to give an address, which was well received. Mr Priestly expressed his pleasure of being able to speak in a community in which he had worked 22 years ago.

Mr Priestly's address was based on the words: "Faith without works is dead." In a most eloquent manner the speaker showed how, without a religious outlook which relates itself to the social and economic needs of the people, there is little hope for the future.

Mrs Warr spoke also to the Stony Plain congregation and in a ten-minute address she brought the greetings of the Provincial U. F. W. A. to people of the church, stressing the need of an unselfish co-operative attitude toward the solution of the problems confronting humanity.

Gov't Advertis New Laws.

The Saskatchewan Government has adopted and placed in operation the plan of advertising new and amended legislation, as advocated for a number of years. The scheme which is now in operation means that the reviews of new or amended legislation are now placed in the 100 weekly newspapers of that province as paid advertising since the recent abolition of the Public Service Monthly. In place of the free distribution magazines, similar material is published thru paid ads. in the weekly press.

It is thought by Government officials that new legislation affecting all parts of the province would reach a greater number of people this way. The advertising is distributed to all weekly newspapers in the province.

Cruises Around World After First Season

Tired, like any debutante after the hectic gaieties of her first season, the young lady who, immediately after her presentation at the Court of King Neptune last May, became a leader of society, leaves shortly for a leisurely cruise around the world.

The young lady in question, the 42,500-ton Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain" has just concluded her first Atlantic season during which her parties, amongst the most brilliant ever held on the Western Ocean, have been attended by more representatives of rank and fashion than Ward Meisters dreamed of.

Princes, Ambassadors, Earls, Viscounts, Baronets, Knights of many of the highest orders of chivalry and their ladies have vied for her favour, and the highest aristocracy of North America, the noble Irish and Indians, paid their homage when they conferred "chieftainship" upon Captain E. G. Letts (inset) commander of the Empress of Britain, and Commodore of the Canadian Pacific fleet.

Regaining the Blue Ribband of the Atlantic for the British Empire on her second voyage by making the crossing to Father Point, Quebec, in four days 12 hours, 30 minutes, thus breaking the previous continent to continent record by four hours and 35 minutes, the Empress of Britain did not rest on her laurels, and since that date has broken her own record on five other occasions. On her final voyage of the season she crossed in seven hours and 45 minutes less than the best record between Cherbourg and New York.

Starting December 3rd, from New York, the Empress will visit 30 ports before, after a complete circle of the world, she returns to the Atlantic. Her guests will bring back with them when they reach New York again, April 8th, 1932, fragrant memories of Madeira, Gibraltar, Algeria, Monaco, France, Italy, Greece, Palestine, Egypt, India, Ceylon, Sumatra, Java, Straits Settlements, Federated Malay States, Siam, the Philippines, China, Japan, Hawaii, Panama and Cuba.

She will be the largest and fastest vessel ever to cruise around the world.
